Clarissa Calderon
Christopher Whitney
November 9, 2016

CS460 – Daytime server and Client Protocol Doc

The following is the details of the custom-made protocol used when communicating with the server. The convention for telling the server it's the end of a line is "." and the following single letters are used to specify what information is to be return.

Y - Current year.
M - Current month.
D – Current day.
H – Current hour.
I – Current minute.
S – Current second.
F – The full timestamp from the NTS daytime server